

The occupational Master's degree program in Inspection and expert survey of the organic food products, of Halal and Kosher food products (full-time courses, 2 years of study - 120 credits) is an accredited master program, founded in 2013. The aim of this program is to prepare experts able to integrate in the comprehensive activity on the national and European food security, in the following fields: quality management of organic products, halal and kosher, expertise of organic products, halal and kosher, traceability and food safety assurance. The graduates of this specialization have as main directions of activity: the control and expertise of organic, halal and kosher food, audit and certification of food businesses, organization and management of organic, halal and kosher food processing, storage and marketing units, implementation of food safety management systems, global food policies.